

Ottawa, Week by Week

(By DEAN WILSON)

Dramatic Episodes Forthshadowed

Although it may not be fully reflected in the outward appearance at the moment in the national capital, yet it is considered highly significant in usually well-informed quarters back-land of the actual drama along Parliament Hill that the Liberals, Progressive-Conservatives, C. P. F., and other parties are increasing steadily their political activities in Ottawa in continuous efforts to gain popular support amongst the masses in the general election of the near future at the same time as the problems are multiplying rapidly for the King Government. In reality, the political parties seem to be racing quickly into position for one of the most exciting political battles in the history of Canada. At least, there has not been a state of political calm in Ottawa since the start of World War II in the view of this veteran, impartial observer, though this may not set up to be the surface at the moment. At the same time as the political fever has been rising in Ottawa, the offices of the King Government have been rendered more difficult since speculation has been increasing about the ways and means to be used by the Government to satisfy public opinion and to solve the unusually heavy accumulation of problems confronting the people which have been brought to the foreground of public opinion and other circumstances after the close of the last session of parliament, 1943, with some of these serious problem arising from the proposals on reconstruction and social security for the people of this country, mutual aid for Canada's partners in this war, changes in the stock exchange, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, provisions for the votes of the armed services in the next general elections, Canada's share of responsibility in the reconstruction of liberated countries, annual huge war appropriations, annual budget, wartime controls, and other problems of popular interest to the masses of this country. With the political pot already boiling over and this war approaching a climax, this unusually heavy accumulation of problems for the King Government may cause an unusually important page of history to be written in this nation's capital in the coming weeks, as well as much news of extraordinary interest.

Surprising Development

Undoubtedly, the man-in-the-street throughout Canada will be very much surprised to learn that from 1940 when the Canadian Congress of Labor was first organized under its present designation until its latest report, its total membership has increased from only 55,000 to more than 250,000, writing a new page of history for labor union organizations in Canada. On the other side of the picture, the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which has been considered as the largest labor organization in this country, having the American Federation of Labor unions had reported at its annual 1943 convention that its membership of 190,778. This marks a new turn of events in labor organizations as well as political activity in this country because the Canadian Congress of Labor, which has the aid of the C.I.O. groups here, has indicated its intention to join the C.P.F.

Changes and Adjustment

It is reported that the president-elect of the Canadian Medical Association, Dr. Harris McPherson, has come to the conclusion that the medical men do not favor a new system of state medicine along the line proposed by a certain political party, even if some important changes may come in the practice of this profession, arguing that, though the medical profession approved in principle health insurance in an uncertain language, yet at the same time the people of Canada should guard against anything which may cause health insurance from becoming a possible "political football." Moreover, he stated in part that it was most desirable that a proper medical service should be available through this country, so that all the people in all areas, even in the remotest sections, would be able to obtain such essential medical care as well as the best possible benefits of preventive medicine.

Canada's Progress Is Emphasized

The unprecedented progress of Canada in this World War II as a source of production and supply for foreign countries, has been reiterated in the present echoes of the very important role which Canada is going to play in the operations of the great international organization, United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, which will be able to provide other material aid to the people of the territories which have been victims of the war. It is planned originally that as soon as this will be possible or the enemies driven out of these territories. Moreover, it had been planned originally that each country would contribute about one per cent of its national income to carry out the work of this international organization. But certain countries had indicated that they would be unable to do so, with the result that changes have been made and the administrative cost of this international body will be paid 40 per cent by the United States, 16 per cent each by Great Britain and Soviet Russia, 5 per cent by China, and the balance for the other nations.

Comparatively Better

In regard to the large number of influenza cases which have occurred in various sections across Canada, it has been obvious that these cannot be compared in any way to the tragic influenza epidemic in 1918. In fact, the existence of influenza in this country has not been unusual, though its existence has been most marked in the fall and early winter, and from the first year of World War II, this disease has accounted for a mortality in this country of 3,985 in 1930, 2,789 in 1930, 2,412 in 1941, and 1,219 in the last year.

Political Repre- sentations

It would prove no great surprise to the veteran observer if big political repercussions will result from the action of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in refusing fully to broadcast a recent speech by its national network by Honorable John Bracken, leader of the Progressive-Conservative party, unless this speech would have been made under certain conditions to comply with this Corporation's own editorial regulations. It has been claimed that this action has greatly aroused feeling in some political circles who consider this action as a possible start in the wrong direction, and a possible threat to complete freedom of speech since the newspaper reported that the speech by this political leader, but it was, not carried, as requested, on the national radio network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Coal Miners Exempted

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, announced that a recent Order in Council has extended to the coal miners the postponement of military training in the case of men employed in coal mining. Also, the period during which men engaged at coal mining will not be accepted for voluntary enlistment in any branch of the Armed Forces has been extended to the same date.

New Car Licenses Will Be Out on March 1st

New motor car licenses for 1944 will be available to applicants on after March 1, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

The plan is to make the licenses available some time before the usual rush that occurs in experienced at issuing licenses just before the opening of the new license year on April 1st.

Provincial officials have stated that the federal "AA" gasoline ration books will be issued as soon as possible.

Similar ration books are being issued in the U.S.A.

While the response to the earlier issuance of licenses was not large last year, it is expected that there will be no improvement this year.

This year, paper stickers for the windshield and rear windows will be issued instead of metal plates. Stock of paper stickers is to be distributed to government, selling agencies and branches of the A.M.A. at Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge during February.

As in past years, motor car owners may obtain their car and driver's licenses at the A.M.A. branches.

Lord's Day Act Prosecutions Are To Be Suspended

Institutions to "suspend" any prosecutions against workmen as the outcome of police activity under the Lord's Day Act, last week-end, have been forwarded to Chief Constable S. J. Patterson, by Mayor Andrew Devine, chairman of the police commission.

Writing from Edmonton where he is attending the session of the provincial legislature, the mayor stated he was opposed to the campaign, but said the whole would be considered at the next meeting of the police commission. He mentioned the act was not being enforced "to any great extent" elsewhere in Canada.

Trucks are not for Joy Rides

Affirming the need to conserve truck equipment, gasoline and tires, R. Bruce Hall, member of the Board of the Wartime Price and Trade Board in Alberta, has issued a statement to remind truck operators that there are penalties under the law for using trucks for pleasure purposes such as going to dance.

"There is evidence that trucks are being used for recreational purposes," Mr. Hall stated. "Use of trucks in an emergency is condoned by the Board. But wasteful and unnecessary use of trucks is a disheartening tendency to the regulations which prohibit the use of trucks for pleasure purposes."

Warble Fly Control

Lethbridge Experimental Station
Went's Letter

"These pests of under my skin," said the old man now as she whipped her tail over her back and made a mad dash for the nearest shrub, where she spent the best part of the day when she would have been out grazing.

Warble flies have been with us so long that it is almost impossible to consider them as a necessary evil. Such is the case as the control is simple, cheap and effective.

The most serious fly in the past has been the difficulty of handling large range cattle. The use of the power sprayer has removed this obstacle, and because of the enormous expense of the rancher. Many ranchers have purchased their own sprayers and will find them efficient for the control as well as warble flies. Ranchers will be available at a nominal cost to neighboring ranchers. To supplement these machines, a number of other agencies, the property of the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, will be available at a reasonable charge to ranchers, while owners of small range livestock their cattle just as effectively and more cheaply by hand.

As the present time when feed is relatively scarce, the use of insecticide as a means of war effort, we should make every effort to eradicate this pest. Surveys of the warble fly problem are being made during the summer of 1944. The Department of Agriculture will make every effort to ensure the eradication of the warble fly disease.

The Agricultural Improvement Agency, under the direction of the past year to encourage treating of cattle for warble flies, and have gained many good supporters. This year will be a special effort to ensure the eradication of the warble fly disease.

As a result of the war effort, the U.S.A. has been expecting a 100 per cent co-operation from its neighbors. The full co-operation of all parties concerned will be necessary to make this program a success. The farmer and rancher who has treated his stock in the past is very anxious that his neighbor do likewise as he feels, and rightly so, that he is playing an uphill game when his stock becomes re-contaminated every season by the stock on the other side of the fence.

Treat your cattle for warble flies. In so doing, you help yourself, your neighbor, and the war effort.

U. F. W. A.

The January meeting of the Delia U.F.W.A. was convened by its president, Mrs. W. L. Carter.

Mrs. Geo. Edgar, the delegate to the annual convention held in Calgary, presented a splendid report of the convention, and will give a further report at the February meeting.

Routine business was conducted. A dance is being planned for a later date. A number of new members were welcomed.

Meeting adjourned at a half hour, social period was enjoyed, and the ladies, Mrs. Geo. Edgar, and Mrs. O. L. Lator, served tea.

In reviewing the many activities of the local U.F.W.A. during the past year, this correspondent feels that donations of cash were made to the Red Cross War Commemorative Committee, United Home Communities, Society for Control of Cancer, Salvation Army, Junior U.F.A., Conference Fund, Red Cross of the Wartime Price and Trade Board.

Besides the above donations, $50.00 was spent in making needed improvements in the local Rest Room.

During the year three dances were sponsored by the U.F.W.A. to raise funds for the work that the organization is doing.

For further information, write your Provincial Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Council, nearest Dominion Experimental Farm or Live Stock Office of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

A cordial invitation is extended to any lady of the community to attend the U.F.W.A. monthly meetings.

Canadian Wheat Brings $1.50 A Bushel On World Markets

What now is being sold on world markets by the Canadian Wheat Board for "close up toward $1.50," Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the House of Commons yesterday, an indication farmers will obtain payments on participation certificates on 1943 wheat.

The initial price paid by the board now is $1.25 a bushel. "Every farmer who delivers a bushel of wheat under that program (a guaranteed floor of $1.20) is given a participation certificate which entitles him to the earnings of the wheat which is being delivered to the market of the world at the present time, or which will be delivered in future," Mr. Gardiner said.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. STRANGE

The Vital Thing Necessary

Many schemes and plans for so-called reconstruction after the war have been proposed, and innumerable committees and study groups are now looking into these matters. Some of the proposals would help, to some extent, on our part. But the vital thing above all that is necessary for the after-war welfare of our people remains that we shall have foreign markets for all the wheat and other farm products we can grow. If these world markets are available there would be no problem to grow down on markets, and so the price of agricultural products would be fair and reasonable. The only way to assure these marks for Canada to remove the existing restrictions to trade, such as tariffs and customs duties which prevent goods coming into Canada from foreign countries, all so that foreign people can secure sufficient Canadian dollars with which to buy Canadian surplus products. These surplus products, such as farm equipment and tools, are included in farm equipment and tools.

For myself, I firmly believe that to eliminate tariffs and other obstacles to trade, we must have as much more value to our farmers than all the reconstruction proposals made put together, good as they may be.

PLAN TO MAINTAIN HOG PRODUCTION During 1944 and 1945

Every good quality hog that can be produced during the next two years will be needed.

The current bacon contract is for two years. It guarantees bacon prices and the delivery of 900 million pounds of bacon over the contract period. To help Britain maintain her present weekly ration of 4 oz. for each person Canada will try to deliver 600 million pounds of bacon this year.

IMPROVE QUALITY

Quality premiums of $3.00 for each Grade A carcass and $2.00 for each Grade B1 carcass have been authorized. They increase the net profit in hog production and emphasize the urgency of improving quality to protect the after-war position on the British market.

Hog Production is Profitable

After allowing reasonable feed allowances and liberal overhead charges to cover all possible costs the following net returns can now be expected from feed grains fed to hogs:

Wt. of Hog Live	Selling Price per 100 lbs.	Value of Bacon	Quality Premium	Returns per Hog	Returns per grain	Value of grain per 100 lbs.

Croatian Capital

Zagreb, the capital of Croatia, is said to be the dearest city in Europe. Although a rationing system has been introduced for a number of the most important foodstuffs, the ration prices are quite inadequate and a black market flourishes. "Fantasy prices" are being paid, for example something like $4 for a two-pound loaf of bread.

Foreign currency, particularly British francs, any kind of gold coins, Turkish pounds and Czech crowns are eagerly purchased at up to 10 times their official value. The local currency is practically worthless. Even the government appears to recognize this for it has issued francs 200 cigarettes and three boxes of matches — a great rarity — for 10 pieces of paper, or 200 pieces of coin.

British Cabinet

There is a tendency, particularly in the United States, to regard the British Cabinet as a body composed of Tory members, the majority belonging to the Conservative party.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Churchill, is the grandson of a Duke of Marlborough, but nobody thinks of him as a member of the blue-blooded aristocracy.

In thought and purpose he is as democratic as any Labor man.

Foreign Secretary Eden and Minister of Production Oliver Lyttelton are about the only two who are of the ancient aristocracy, but they also have shown intense sympathy for and understanding of the working people and their problems.

Chancellor, the chief Labor representative, and Sir John Anderson, Chancellor of the Exchequer, are definitely middle class.

Foremost of the "men of the people" is Ernest Brown, Minister of Labor, who was just a laborer until he rose to fame as a trade union leader.

Herbert Morrison, Home Secretary, was born in the East End of London, and is a democrat.

Lord Woolton, now Minister of Reconstruction, began life as a school teacher until he was elected to the House of Commons.

Sir James Grigg, Secretary for War, worked his way through university on scholarships.

Sir Stafford Cripps, father was a laborer, but of middle class origin.

A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, was once a school teacher until he was elected to the House of Commons.

Lord Leathers, the Minister of Transport, was another product of the East End of London, where his father was a carpenter.

Ben Kahn, Secretary of the Ministry of Food, began his life as a laborer, but of middle class origin.

More than 500 British soldiers have been sent down by British air squadrons based in Britain, since the outbreak of the war.

The number of British today are drawn from every class, and are proof that the quality of the British leadership is not inferior to that of the Axis.
